To further increase access to road network, the GoB has formulated the Mukhya Mantri Gram Sampark Yojana<sup>1</sup> (MMGSY)-Awsesh scheme, which constitutes the Project, to provide connectivity to identified habitations, with a population of more than 100 without direct access to the nearest road.
Project Description	The Project will support construction of more than 8,000 km length of rural roads under the MMGSY-Awsesh. The Project will include innovative components to improve project and asset management as well as quality assurance systems in Bihar for the Rural Works Department, which operates the largest road network in state.
Project Objective	The Project aims to provide first-time road connectivity to more than 7,000 rural habitations, benefiting 2.25 million rural population. This road network coverage will increase to 95% of the total rural habitations in state.
